“World Class Scholars:

- encourage students to cite works properly

V. How do students exhibit and encourage academic honesty?

The principled and thinking IB learner should:

- be honest in presenting all of their work
- acknowledge help from parents, friends or other students
- know what constitutes cheating
- say “no” to students who want to copy their work
- understand their teachers value the student's own ideas, language and voice
- understand the teacher's guidelines for group and individual work
- understand and use technology and library resources properly
- acknowledge resources in appropriately cited bibliographies
- seek guidance from teachers when unsure how to follow rules of academic honesty

VI. How can parents support academic honesty?

It is important that parents and guardians are familiar with the academic honesty guidelines as well as the consequences for academic dishonesty as outlined in the District's Student Code of Conduct and the Magnet (EGA Regulation). These consequences may include parent contact, loss of points or credit and/or detention. Parents can support students by encouraging them to develop the IB learner profile traits which encourage students to, “act with integrity and honesty, with a strong sense of fairness and justice, and with respect for the dignity and rights of people everywhere. We take responsibility for our actions and their consequences.”
